

FOREIGN WORKER'S LANGUAGE AND CULTURE BARRIERS.

INFLUENCES

Language & Culture Barriers

- 1 It leads more misunderstandings between employers and migrant workers.
- 2 Limited opportunities to participate in social activities exacerbate their mental stress.
- 3 Due to language difficulties, migrant workers are unable to effectively advocate for their rights.

EXAMPLES

- ★ Although they have received Mandarin training, elderly people in Taiwan are more accustomed to speaking Taiwanese.
- ★ Taiwanese cuisine often uses pork, but Muslim caregivers cannot eat pork.
- ★ Both parties to communicate through gestures, leading to even more misunderstandings.
- ★ Poor communication may prevent caregivers from fully utilizing their professional skills.

SOLUTIONS

- Translators and online translation tools
- The Long-Term Care 2.0 program
- Service associations and foundations

IT'S TIME TO DO

Through these actions, we hope to help international migrant workers overcome language and cultural barriers with their employers.
