

UNHEARD VOICES — Migrant Workers' Struggles in Taiwan

I. Introduction

- Over 800,000 migrant workers live in Taiwan, (mainly from Southeast Asia)
- They are often overlooked and face language barriers, legal challenges.
- This poster highlights two key issues: language barriers and legal protection, along with possible solutions.

II. Language and communication barriers

- Limited language skills
- Different cultural and communication styles
- Technical vocabulary challenges
- Difficulty seeking mental health support

III. Legal and documentation issues

- Different legal protections
- Wages and working hours
- Rest days
- Changing employers

VI. Conclusion & Solution

Language and communication barriers

- Offering free language classes
- Encourage social activities, cultural exchange

Legal and documentation issues

- Strengthen labor laws to protect workers' rights
- Provide hotlines and shelters for worker support.
